

GRAND ROUNDS SERIES

EMERGING ISSUE: NOVEL INFLUENZA A (H1N1)

Patricia Quinlisk, M.D., M.P.H.,

State Epidemiologist and Medical Director,
Iowa Department of Public Health

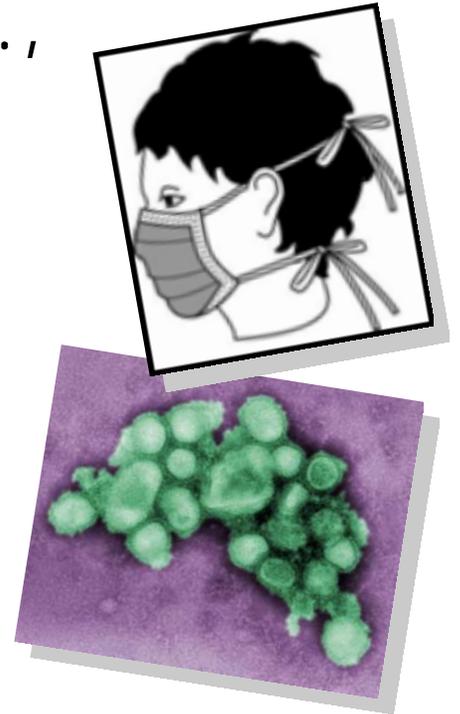

Wednesday, May 6, 2009

Noon—1:00 pm CDT

Room 538 Pharmacy Building

Room A117 Oakdale Hall

The University of Iowa

This presentation will be broadcast via streaming video on the Web. Registration and more information are available at:

http://www.public-health.uiowa.edu/icphp/grand_rounds/current_session/

Dr. Quinlisk will discuss the recent outbreak of influenza A (H1N1) of swine origin.

SPONSORED BY:

Upper Midwest Center for Public Health Preparedness (UMCPHP), Institute for Public Health Practice, The University of Iowa College of Public Health, Iowa Counties Public Health Association, Iowa Department of Public Health, Iowa Hospital Association, and Iowa Medical Society. UMCPHP is funded by a grant from the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all University of Iowa-sponsored events. If you are a person with a disability who requires an accommodation in order to participate in this program, please contact Angela Harding at 319-335-8451.